From the Editor's Desk

We have done industrialization for development; by mechanization, urbanization, deforestation. By pollution the air, water, the origin of human life, human existence itself is in danger. It will be called destruction not development. In various countries of the world, through liberalization, privatization and globalization (LPG), the problem of poverty, inequality, unemployment and pollution in the world have reached the climax keeping these facts in mind; we organized National and International webinar.

It is the task of intellectuals to reflect on world-wide problem, without understanding this fact we can't discharge our responsibilities. LPG has led to downfall in economic, social, political and spiritual field in the world, keeping in mind the welfare of generation to come, we have decided to publish this book on suggestion of various scholars.

603 participants from 23 states of India participated in the national webinar theme "International Economic Depression & COVID- 19 and its impact on environment & Economy" Organized by Post Graduate Department of Economics, on 10 June 2020.

Similarly,

1200 participants form Seven Countries of India, Nepal, Bhutan, Bangladesh, Uganda, Ethiopia & Singapore, participated in the theme "International Economic Development & Crisis" in the International webinar organized by the Post Graduate Department of Economics & Geography on 24th July 2020.

the post pandemic world. I offer my most sincere best wishes for the visionary effort of Dr. Jai Narain Pandey in organizing a big academic event online and planning a worthy book out of it. I wish him all success.

Pandey assumes great importance. The concept of development owing to the prevailing corona crisis has undergone a sea change over the last few quarters. The proposed book as a collection of various articles seems to be analyzing the same.

As far the theoretical underpinning of the theme is concerned it reminds me the father of economics, Adam Smith, to whom economic development was limited by division of labour and extent of market and he devoted an exclusive chapters on these in the Wealth of Nations. Globalization is the modern phrase for the system that was visualized by Smith based on free trade. Any barrier limiting free trade limits the division of labour and the market. He stood for free trade system and free markets in 18th century and two centuries later globalization started asking for the same again. Consequently regulatory policies of protection and restrictions had to take a back seat almost in every country. Arguably, human welfare is not maximized in monopolistic conditions but in free market situation. Gradually new technology gave altogether new dimension to the institution of market which connects the people, households, firms and the governments.

However, the spread of recent corona pandemic changed the scenario and affected the global economy very substantially and differently. The whole world came to a standstill. Economies crashed. GDP fell down and unemployment sharply deepened. The pandemic is global and countries tried their best to control it. However, some countries could not manage it well even with abundant resources like the USA while others could achieve exemplary success by emulative public commitment in controlling Covid-19 remarkably like New Zealand. All in all, in view of the displaced labour force and consequent economic distress, job creation afresh and reducing income inequalities will need to be given priority in development policies. On the other hand we also need an approach of development which should promote production and trade not only on pecuniary grounds but also on more ethical and sustainable basis to help improve living standards and human welfare. New ways will have to be found out through well thought out researches as how to ensure it. The proposed book seems to be an attempt in that direction. Articles that are included in this compendium should be addressing these issues in one way or the other with supporting data from India and abroad. .

I am sure that fresh grounds will be broken through the erudite notes and learned research articles included in this book to pave the way for inventing new and sustainable principles and practices of development in

MESSAGE

I am glad to know that Dr. Jai Narain Pandey, Head of the Department of Economics, Rajeev Gandhi Postgraduate College, Ambikapur, District Sarguja in Chhattisgarh State, is ready with a valuable manuscript for publication which comprises of articles from a cross section of young researchers and senior scholars from India and abroad on different aspects of economic development, growth related problems, contemporary crisis, fresh prospects and opportunities. Surely, all these innovative pieces are of great topical significance which makes the manuscript a valuable document. He has successfully endeavored to prevail upon established authors and economists along with budding and enthusiastic young faculty in economics and sister disciplines in university departments and colleges and stand-alone institutions. They have ably contributed their well thought out articles, research notes, explanatory communication and resume of ongoing projects etc. He continuously kept in touch with authors and saw to it harmoniously that the final drafts from the authors are received in time. This is really commendable as researchers and authors often take longer time and slip the deadlines!

I profusely congratulate Dr. Pandey for this great effort and successful intellectual pursuit. It is heartening to note that the manuscript is to be published in a book form shortly. I also take this opportunity and feel privileged to extend my warmest greetings to all contributing authors. There would be no exaggeration in saying that the spiritually elevated personality of Dr. Pandey helped him in roping in such a wonderful galaxy of authors. It was again his agreeable influence that all the contributing authors have maintained their understanding of the overall theme of the volume and made to order their final submissions to his proposed book accordingly. In the post Covid-19 academic world, very few titles have been published on this theme and therefore the proposed book of Dr.

संपादकीय

कौशल, उद्यम व पर्यावरण एक दूसरे के पूरक है। मानव जीवन सर्वोच्च कल्याण का मार्ग है। मानव की आवश्यकता सीमित है, दानव की असीमित। देवता की कम और परमात्मा की शून्य है।

भारतीय संस्कृति के आश्रम व्यवस्था ब्रम्हचर्य, गृहस्थ, वानप्रस्थ व सन्यास में क्रमशः ज्ञानयोग, कर्मयोग, दान व यज्ञ का विधान है।

जीवन मूल्य, जैव विविधता पर आधारित रहा है। हमने सदैव व्यवसाय को प्रधानता दी है।

मानवता की रक्षा व सर्वांगीण विकास के लिए हमें जंगल, समाज व जंगल की यात्रा कर पर्यावरण को संरक्षित करके आध्यात्मिक समाजवाद की दिशा में आगे बढ़ना होगा।
